MAGDALEN COLLEGE
OF THE LIBERAL ARTS

Advanced Research Guide
St. Augustine Library

Searching for Items in our Collection:

- Use the Library Web Page to access the online catalog to search for items in our library collection. You may access the catalog from any computer in the library using the "Catalog" tab from Google Chrome. Or you can access the catalog from anywhere you have an internet connection: From the college web page http://www.magdalen.edu/ click on the tab, "Library." From the library webpage, link to the Catalog.

Electronic Books (E-Books)

- The library also subscribes to the HEB Collection (ACLS Humanities E-Books).   It includes over 5,000 books which are accessible from our online catalog. In our catalog, you will see [electronic resource] after the title of the book and a URL to connect to the book itself.

- For best printing results choose the "PDF" viewing option. Ten pages may be downloaded or printed at a time.

Searching for Articles:

- Use EBSCOHOST Academic Search Premier and Masterfile Premier for full text articles on a variety of topics. Here is the link: http://search.ebscohost.com

  Because we are members of the Warner community, we have access to the public library's collections and to online databases via the library's homepage. (See library staff for user ID and password for EBSCOHOST as well as information on logging in and searching)

- For more articles, use Google Scholar to efficiently and productively search the free web for scholarly Information (http://scholar.google.com)

- Note the name of the journal, the article title, author, date, volume, number, and pages of the issue. This is important information if you are requesting an interlibrary loan.

Interlibrary Loans:

- WorldShare Interlibrary Loan connects our library to thousands of other libraries whose collections are available to us as a member institution.

- Talk to library staff about items you wish to borrow or copies of journal articles you will need for your research; while books and media may take a week to ten days to arrive, journal articles may be available within a day or two.

Citations

- They give credit to the works of others when you write about them or use their work. The basic elements of a citation include author, title, publisher, and date of publication.

- The library has Citation Guides that will show you how to reference different types of materials—for example, journal articles, websites, media, etc.

Other Research Guides

The Research tab on the library homepage will provide links to subject guides for more in-depth research on your topic.
